Ribbon cutting opens link between Gateway and Bethel pathways

With the snip of her scissors Sunday afternoon, Bonnie Pooley, chair of the Mahoosuc Land Trust's Trails Committee, formally opened the Alder River Crossing Pathway, linking the existing Bethel and Gateway (upper photo) pathways. The event marked the culmination of three years of work, over the course of which, Pooley said, the committee received strong support and cooperation from the town, selectmen, and Town Manager Jim Doar. Planning for both the Alder River crossing and the Gateway section was funded by grants from the National Park Service Rivers and Trails Program, and the actual construction by grants from Maine Recreational Trails, as well as local contributions. Barb Russell (left) was point person for the project, and Joe Aloisio (green cap) served as project engineer, working with Cross Excavation to build a safe, attractive pathway next to the highway and over the Alder River. "This was technically our most challenging section of the pathway to date," Pooley said. And more may be yet to come. "In an exciting new initiative, Telstar Junior High art students, under the supervision of their art teacher, Melissa Prescott, have now begun to explore the possibility of developing a trail from Telstar toward Bethel. Their hope is to join their Telstar trail to the Bethel Pathway so that students, athletes, and all community members will be able to walk safely to Telstar and back to Bethel. They have named this program 'The Path of Perseverance.'" Students Regan Kauf (third from left) and Andrew Siegel (behind Pooley) came to the ribbon cutting, and Kauf (third from left) described the progress of their trail. They will hold a fundraiser, ArtReach 2010, on Dec. 8 from 5 to 8 p.m. at Telstar Middle School Auditorium, with student artwork on sale. The event will include a live art auction and student performances. They also plan a Relay for Life in the spring, on the new trail, to raise money to benefit the American Cancer Society, in memory of Nancy B. Young, longtime secretary of the Crescent Park Elementary School. FMI: www.wix.com/tmspop/trails. Others at Sunday's event included Charlie St. Germaine, Tundra the Husky, Kirk Siegel, Jonathon Goldberg, MLT Executive Director Jim Mitchell and Melissa Prescott.

Latest version of rail plan envisions several station stops a day in Bethel

By ALISON ALOISIO

Bethel might one day see four round-trip trains a day from Portland, under a passenger-rail revival scenario presented here Monday by planners working with the Maine Department of Transportation.

And if rail service is extended all the way to Montreal, that number could increase.

Monday's presentation at the Bethel Inn to about two dozen people was the second such meeting in three months. In September, about 70 people turned out to let MDOT and its consultants know their wishes for the return of rail service. Much of the discussion centered on bringing skiers to the area by rail.

The planners took that input and other information and came up with some preliminary options for extending the current Downeaster train service from the Portland area to Lewiston-Auburn and beyond.

Local details

A return to Bethel would require improvements to the existing trail platform located at Bethel Station (currently the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce building). The platform, built more than 15 years

Gilead's 1851 station on track to return from Auburn

By ALISON ALOISIO

For the past 20 years, Gilead's 160-year-old train station has served as an office building in Auburn.

Its owner, Ford Reiche, has now offered to return the building to Gilead, according to Lin McLain Chapman, of the Gilead Historical Society.

The old station would sit on the McLain family lot next to the town's old schoolhouse, which was also recently relocated there. Stephen and Lise McLain donated the lot to the GHS several years ago.

The station was saved from destruction in 1991 when Reiche, a lifetime member of the GHS, moved it from Gilead to Auburn after

Mt. Abram applies to DEP for OK to install an acre of solar panels

By ALISON ALOISIO

An acre of solar panels planned for construction at Mt. Abram Ski Resort could generate as much electricity as the mountain uses in a year.

The resort this week submitted an application for the project to the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, according to Mt. Abram owner Matt Hancock.

The solar panel "field" would be located on a two-acre site between the main lodge and West Lodge.

The site had previously been approved by DEP for a snow-making pond, Hancock said. The pond was never built.

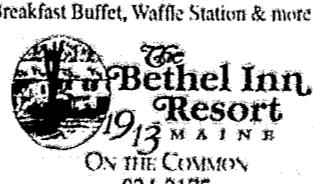

The resort's snowmaking operation accounts for most of its energy usage.

Chamber of Commerce proposes 150-foot Winterfest 'Ice Mountain'

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It might not be a "looker" itself, like the snowman in 1999 and his female counterpart almost a decade later, but like both its winter-attraction predecessors it should attract plenty of "looker people" (in the words of Robin Zinchuk) to Bethel.

"It" in this case would be a 150-foot-tall ice mountain, the envisioned centerpiece of Winterfest 2011, set for Jan. 22-30.

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, of which Zinchuk is executive director, has received permission from the Bethel Planning Board to build the mountain in Bethel Station, but only if the chamber reaches agreement with the Bethel Water District

But says project cannot go forward if it has to pay

about providing the necessary water.

And that would be a lot of water enough to freeze up into about 125,000 cubic feet of ice, weighing in at 7.5 million pounds, according to the calculations of engineer Jim Sysko.

That boils down to plus or minus a million gallons, according to BWD Superintendent Lucien Roberge.

At their most recent meeting, following a discussion with Sysko, the BWD Board of Trustees voted unanimously to provide the water, as long as the chamber pays what residential users would pay — about $2,400 in this case.

But the chamber would prefer not to pay.

TO CLEAR UP A FEW POINTS

To the Editor:

I want to thank the town of Gilead for their courage and unbiased support on the purchase of property issue. In regard to Mr. Brearley's questions and concerns I hope to clear up a few things for not only him but anyone else who read the article as well.

It is not my intention to debate or argue the five points addressed by Mr. Brearley last week, only because all of these questions were answered at the very first meeting regarding the purchase.

Anyone who attended the meeting would know that the building is not available for short sale or auction, as he implied. The town has been discussing this property for many months now, and an open house was also hosted by the realtor for the townspeople in October. This meeting and the open house gave the taxpayers of Gilead two major opportunities to ask questions and voice their opinions to myself and others.

There has already been one voting process on whether or not to proceed to the negotiation of the property, which ended in a 29-19 favor. There will be one more meeting for price negotiations directly followed by a vote from the taxpayers of Gilead.

It has also come to my attention that a group of concerned citizens have circulated a petition that includes at least 40 signatures in order to hasten the process, and it shows that the interest is growing in numbers.

Finally, the concern that my realtor is also a selectman and resident of the town is irrelevant to the issue since she cannot vote. The town has expressed the need for garage space for many years and now the opportunity is in reach, and since all of the details have been worked out with a fine-tooth comb, its fate lies in the hands of the citizens of Gilead and will be determined at the next meeting.

PATHWAY EXTENSION THANKS

To the Editor:

The ribbon cutting ceremony held on Nov. 28 celebrated the completion of two segments of the Bethel Pathway extension to Telstar. Such projects require much collaboration among town government, landowners and contractors.

The Bethel Area Trails Committee appreciates the time and effort given by those who helped see these two projects to fruition.

Thank you to the Bethel Board of Selectmen and current and former town managers, Jim Doar and Scott Cole for their support of the projects; to Gary Inman, Don Murphy, Jim List, Jim Sysko and Kirk Siegel for donating their particular expertise and services; to Joe Aloisio and Cross Excavation for their engineering and construction contributions; to Amy Scott for her grant writing; to the Mahoosuc Land Trust for granting an easement on the Gateway; to Burnham Martin, technical assistant from the National Park Service; and finally to all the members of the Bethel Area Trails Committee for their various contributions and persistence over the past three years. We look forward to making the final connection to the Telstar Complex!

REMEMBERING STUDIE CROSS

To the Editor:

As a native of Bethel, I have known Studie Cross most of my life. We met through his cousin, Diane, who sat close to me in Kindergarten at the Ethel Bisbee School, and who remains a close friend to this day. Studie was nine years older than Diane and me. When he started school in the mid-1940s, there were no "Special Needs" tests or categories or programs — just the huge and homogenous classrooms that were the educational reality at the time. But what Studie lacked in traditional book-learning he more than made up for in other ways.

The first thing you noticed about Studie was that he had a unique way of speaking. In fact, you could say he had his own special dialect, which Diane and I fondly referred to as "Studiology." In Studie-speak, "Gould Academy" was called "Gould Acabedy," a memorable event was called a "S'perience," and I was called "Gurttchitt" (not Gretchen). Initially, I tried to correct Studie but it didn't work. He kept insisting that he was repeating my name as I told it to him: "Gurttchitt." Then out of curiosity, I informally introduced Studie to my friend, Doug Topper, a speech therapist. Doug explained that Studie's speech was just fine, and he was indeed repeating what he heard. The creative translation was taking place between his ears and his brain. Bottom-line: I was Gurttchitt whether I liked it or not.

The second thing you noticed about Studie was that he was always on the go — initially by bike, then by foot. In his biking years, Studie could be seen as often in Bryant Pond and Locke Mills as in Bethel. He would often bike down to visit my parents on East Bethel Road (now Interstate Road), stopping by for a cup of coffee and as many homemade cookies as my mother would put on the plate. His biking years came to an abrupt end when he took a terrible spill at the foot of Hunt's Corner Hill. "You won't believe what happened to me, Gurttchitt," he recalled, "I was minding my own business and biking down the hill when a bolt of lightning came out of the sky and knocked me to the ground." Minding his own business and lightning bolts would become recurring themes in Studie's life. After he recuperated, Studie took to walking all around Bethel, and I sometimes wish I had thought to attach a pedometer to his pant leg.

The third and most important thing you noticed about Studie was his fierce loyalty to family and friends. No matter what others said or did when having a bad day, Studie was there for the long-haul. He was proud to work in the woods as part of his family heritage, and carried his honorary Bethel Fireman's Badge with pride. He held his friends dear and never forgot a face or a name, even when many months passed between visits. In Malcolm Gladwell's book, "The Tipping Point," Studie would be aptly described as a "connector" — one of those handful of people with a truly extraordinary knack for making friends and acquaintances. With Studie's passing, the Bethel community has lost a great connector — and one of its best friends.

REMEMBERING RUPERT, 'STUDIE,' AND MABEL

To the Editor:

Three individuals who were well-known locally have died within days of each other. Through many years, I came to know all of them well and wish to make a few comments on what they have meant to me during that time.

Rupert Grover, Sr., who seemed to be in many folk's eyes the unofficial "Mayor of Mason," was a familiar figure at numerous Grange meetings I have attended over the years. I always enjoyed chatting with him about times past and his knowledge of farm and forest lore knew few limits. He was known as the quintessential "good neighbor" and possessed a fine sense of humor. In so many ways he embodied the old Yankee adage, "Use it up, wear it out, make it do, or do without." "Studie" Cross was a familiar figure on Bethel Village streets for many years. Quite often he walked on Mason Street in the warmer weather and if I was working on my lawn or in the back yard of the Dr. Mason House, he would usually stop and give me his update on what was happening in town. Whether it be what was building an addition to their garage, digging up a culvert, changing the paint color on their home, or any number of other observations, I always felt I had a better "handle" on what was happening in the greater Bethel community once "Studie" had brought me "up to speed." Next spring won't be the same without briefings from "Studie."

Finally, it is difficult to assess just how much Mabel Kennett has meant to the Bethel Historical Society over these many years. In her quiet and dignified way, she made such a difference on so many fronts in partnership with her beloved husband Alden. Quilting was one of her passions, particularly in her retirement years, but she made other contributions that have advanced the organization's reputation in a number of ways. I will greatly miss seeing her and listening to her observations while sharing her low-key sense of humor.

The Rotary Club is pleased to be able to assist families with children up to and including high school age. All requests must include the name and age of each child. A telephone number and mailing address must also be included.

Once again this year, Rotarians will also be collecting donations at the Bethel Shop n' Save on several weekends between now and the holidays.

On behalf of the entire Rotary Club of Bethel, I would like to thank the community for the ongoing generosity and support it has shown for this program over the many years of its existence. Best wishes for a happy and healthy holiday season!

WEEKEND EVENTS TO ANTICIPATE

To the Editor:

We have a wonderful weekend filled with events to anticipate!

The 4th Annual Business and Home EXPO, presented by Norway Savings Bank, is scheduled for 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Telstar High School gymnasium — and is a great way to meet and learn about nearly 40 local businesses, do some holiday shopping, and have several chances to win some terrific raffle prizes. There will be several raffle items donated by our exhibitors during the day — and a Grand Prize raffle of one cord of firewood donated by Cross Excavation drawn shortly before 2 p.m. Other sponsors helping to make this event possible are Agren Appliance, United Insurance, Northeast Bank, Turner Publishing, WOXO/Gleason Marketing Services and Western Maine Supply.

While you are at the Telstar facility on Saturday there will be lots of other activities for you to enjoy. The Taste of Bethel, featuring Bethel area restaurants, will be held in the Telstar Cafeteria from noon until the food runs out (usually about 1:30 or so). Sample tastes are $1 each.

The Theme Wreath Auction has become a chamber holiday tradition and it will feature up to 20 wreaths decorated by our local businesses. This is a silent auction and it will be located in the gymnasium this year. The closing bids will be accepted at 1:50 or so, shortly before the Business EXPO closes to the public.

From 2 to 4 p.m., Oxford Networks is providing free horse-drawn wagon rides in Bethel Village. Thanks to the Bethel Rotary Club, at 4:15, those wishing to participate in the 2nd Annual Jingle Bell Run are asked to gather in the Key Bank parking lot on Main Street, Bethel for a 4:45 mass jog up the street to the Bethel Common. Santa will greet everyone on the Common and we will light the Christmas tree to officially begin the holiday season.

the resort undertook an energy audit, through Efficiency Maine, to pinpoint ways to use less energy. "We hope to get our usage below 400,000," said Hancock.

Besides being a long-term money saver, he said, "We thought the project's environmental consideration would resonate well with the skiing public."

The solar field, mostly hidden in a clearing surrounded by trees, will also have little visual impact, he said. The panels will be mounted on ballasted legs and tilted toward the sun.

"There would be no hardship on any of our neighbors from this," he said.

Wind power was not seriously considered, said Hancock, because of general opposition to it and because the permitting process can be so lengthy. Solar projects are costly, Hancock said, and Mt. Abram hopes to be able to take advantage of a federal tax credit of 30 percent on the cost of the system. The tax credit program is slated to expire the end of this year, and it is unknown if it will be extended, said Hancock.

If the project receives DEP approval later this month, work could begin then, in order to qualify for the credit.

Or, if word is received soon that the credit program will be extended into 2011, work would likely wait until the end of ski season, Hancock said.

The solar project plan will be submitted to the Greenwood Planning Board next week.

TMS ArtReach next week

BETHEL—Telstar Middle School students will showcase their musical and visual art accomplishments alongside the works of local adult artists at the 6th annual TMS ArtReach, to be held at the Telstar Complex on Dec. 8 from 5 to 8 p.m. (snowdate Dec. 9). This event, which connects artwork with community service, will include a student art sale and silent auction, a program of special student performances, and a live art auction of artworks donated by local artists. All of the money raised at this event will benefit the Path of Perseverance service-learning project, which is focused on trail building and cancer awareness and prevention. This year, TMS Advanced Art students decided to work with the Bethel Trails Committee to help complete the Gateway trail by extending the Telstar trail system toward the new Gateway trail extension. They will also be using this project to raise awareness and support for cancer prevention. In the spring, they plan to organize a Relay for Life fundraiser along the new trail to benefit the American Cancer Society. The Relay will be dedicated to Nancy B. Young, longtime secretary of the Crescent Park Elementary School, who recently passed away after a six-year battle with cancer. At 5 p.m., the show will open with the student visual art exhibit and sale, the silent auction, and the live auction preview. More than 100 student works will be offered for sale, and the live art auction will include several donated artworks, both two- and three-dimensional, in a variety of media. The live auction will begin at 6:30 p.m., followed by a program of special student performances at 7 p.m. More information about the Path of Perseverance project can be found at the project's website - www.wix.com/tmsop/trails.

Legislators Listening Forum Dec. 8

PARIS—On Dec. 8 Oxford County businesses and legislators are invited to a listening forum on taxation and regulation issues affecting the business community (regulation, labor, taxes, etc.). Businesses will have the opportunity to inform members of the Oxford County legislative delegation of issues that may be addressed with legislation in the First Session of the 125th Legislature. The forum will be held in the Forum at Oxford Hills Comprehensive High School from 6 to 7:30 p.m. Businesses are asked to come prepared to discuss their concerns with specific ideas for resolution. The Western Maine Economic Development Corp. is convening this forum in conjunction with other county-wide economic development organizations and regional nonprofits in Western Maine.

Timber harvest down

AUGUSTA—The Maine Forest Service says timber harvesting activities in the state in 2009 were much lower than in previous years, and reflect the dreary economic conditions of the time. That and other trends in the industry can be found in the Forest Service's 2009 Silvicultural Activities and Stumpage Price reports. The first report says the 394,100 total acres harvested last year was down 15 percent from the 2008 total of 463,200 acres. Acres clear-cut increased from 10,075 acres in 2008 to 14,866 in 2009. Clearcutting still amounts to less than 4 percent of the total harvested acres. The second report reflects a downward trend in stumpage prices paid to landowners.

Maine near top in health care

PORLTAND—New federal figures indicate New Hampshire and Maine have some of the nation's best health care. The Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality ranks New Hampshire first, followed by Wisconsin, Minnesota, Maine and Rhode Island. Maine moved up from 12th place overall the previous year, the biggest one-year improvement for any state. Vermont is also ranked above average. The annual rankings are based on a list of measures, such as the rate of eye and foot exams for diabetes patients and the mortality rates for cancer patients.

After the board's vote, Board Chairman Brent Angevine said: "Robin contacted us asking for another chance to try to sway us into giving them the water, donating the water to the project."

"I told her the trustees felt, per vote, that it was not in the best interests of the ratepayers to give the water away," Angevine said.

But the trustees did agree to let her make her case, at a public meeting on Thursday, Dec. 9, at 7 p.m. in the Town Office meeting room.

'I told her the trustees felt, per vote, that it was not in the best interests of the ratepayers to give the water away.'

BRENT ANGEVINE
Chair, BWD Trustees

"Any and all people willing to speak their piece will have a chance to," Angevine said. Zinchuk said Wednesday that the chamber hopes to meet also with the Bethel Board of Selectmen, at their regular meeting Monday evening, in an effort to enlist their support.

Paying for the water, she said, "would kill the project — we just don't have those kinds of resources."

Added attractions

If the ice-mountain does become a reality, it's likely to have one attraction even the snowman and snow-woman lacked.

"We've spoken to ice climbers who are interested in doing demonstrations," Zinchuk said.

And this year's effort would also be a little easier on its less athletic local supporters. "The great thing about this project is that it does not require a lot of physical labor," she said.

Rail

ago for what would be a failed attempt to revive rail service, has since sunk and is now too low to accommodate passengers getting off trains, the planners said. But it meets the 400-foot length requirement to serve a five-car train.

And while parking would be available on the south side of the Casablanca Cinema building, the plan calls for additional parking on what is now a gravel lot, located next to the current parking lot.

An overnight layover facility for the trains would also be constructed, on 10 to 14 acres of land in Bethel.

As for the train schedule, trips between Portland and Bethel would take an estimated one hour and 40 minutes. For travelers linking to Boston, three of the four daily Bethel trips would be "one-seat" (no transfers between trains).

Stops would include Lewiston-Auburn and South Paris.

In South Paris, the old Grand Trunk Railroad Station would be utilized. The station currently serves as an ice cream shop, and the nearby Ford dealership uses much of the parking lot for its cars.

Also discussed Monday was the possibility of bus service between Portland and Lewiston-Auburn, which could provide interim transportation until rail service could be established.

The planners said bus service might also be a means to test the market for public transportation along the corridor. A preliminary schedule was presented. Scott Hynek of Bethel asked the planners to also look into bus service to Bethel.

Montreal Route

The option for possible train service to Montreal calls for two round trips daily of seven hours, 20 minutes each (assuming 90 minutes for customs). Stops would be planned for Berlin and North Stratford, N.H., as well as several locations in Quebec.

Next steps

The next steps in the study will be to develop ridership and cost information, evaluate the alternatives and provide recommendations, and present the information to the public.

That portion of the study is expected to be done in January.

After the study is completed, potential next steps include an environmental analysis, further design, the securing of funding for construction and operation, procurement of equipment and materials, and construction.

Having plans in place would help the effort in seeking federal funds, the planners said.

To try to help make trains a reality here, local rail supporters are also planning a "Transportation Summit" in the spring. They hope to draw representatives from New Hampshire, Vermont, Canada, as well as federal transportation officials.

Sue Moreau, of MDOT, said transportation officials in those states and Canada are aware of the rail effort.

Peru man killed inAfghanistan

By TERRY KARKOS, Sun Media Wire

RUMFORD—Christmas lights, frosted pine cones and a red bow adorned a wreath placed on a Congress Street lamppost around a shield bearing the name of U.S. Army Pvt. Buddy McLain.

It and others like it were made by former Selectman J. Arthur Boivin and placed this summer on lampposts lining the street to honor River Valley soldiers deployed to Afghanistan.

Boivin learned Tuesday that McLain, 24, of Peru was killed by enemy fire on Monday in Afghanistan, according to reports from Maine's top elected officials and Gov. John Baldacci.

Because the shield was modeled after Rumford firefighter and police shields, Boivin and area military officials will soon place a black band across the bottom half of the shield below McLain's name.

That's what police and firefighters do when one of their own is killed on duty, he said.

McLain was one of six U.S. troops killed in an attack by an Afghan border policeman during a training mission in Nangarhar province near the Pakistan border. The attacker was killed in the shootout, and the Taliban claimed responsibility for the killings, according to published reports.

McLain leaves behind his wife, Chelsea McLain, 20, and 15-month-old son, Owen, according to a story on WMTW TV's website Tuesday.

"He knew he was going to come home a hero; we just didn't want it to be this way," Chelsea McLain said.

McLain said her husband last spoke with them shortly before heading out on a mission he said was going to be dangerous.

"He called my son a couple weeks ago — our son — and he said how proud he was of him, and how he couldn't wait to come home and go sledding and build snowmen," she said.

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

One big holiday has now gone by and two more coming up in less than a month. My, oh my, how time does fly.

Thanksgiving went very well and it's always nice to have the family all together, but I did some serious hustling for a few days to prepare for it.

I had not even given Thanksgiving much thought until the Monday before and then it hit me like a ton of bricks. I hadn't done any of the grocery shopping and my dining room looked like a New Year's Day hang-over.

We only use the dining room a few times a year for family gatherings, so for me it becomes a depository for things that seem too good to get rid of, but I don't know what else to do with them. The dining room table becomes a great place to fold laundry, but I guess it's a good idea if you actually put the clothes away after folding.

Anyway, to make a long story short, after a few days of scurrying around and baking like a fool I managed to pull it all together and a wonderful meal was enjoyed by all.

Now we are approaching Christmas, seemingly at a rapid pace, and I have never been less prepared for it in my life. I've barely started my Christmas shopping haven't even given much thought on what to get for whom and I really don't have a clue.

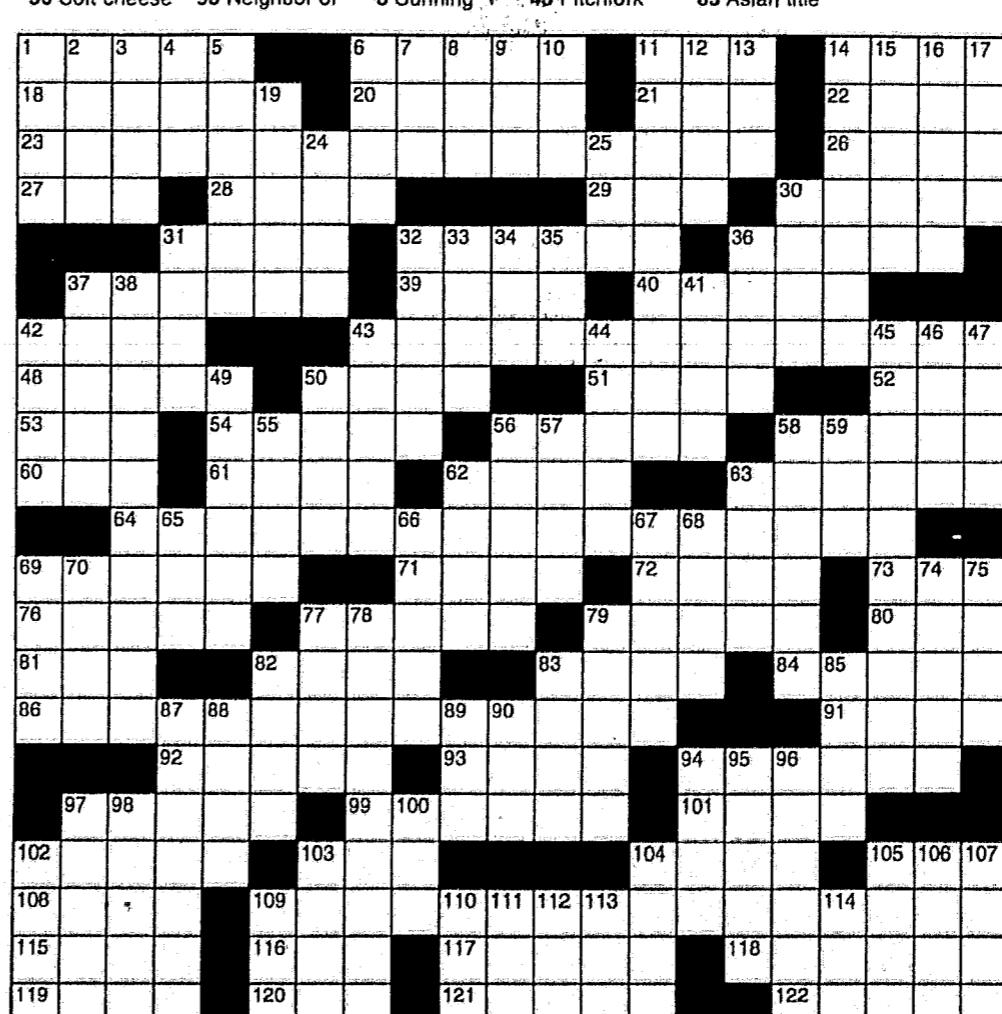

My dining room looked like a New Year's Day hang-over

I was pondering just how my disorganization has come about, especially now that I'm retired and have so much time to spare. I have come to the conclusion that being retired with time on my hands is, in fact, the problem.

In my working life I had to be somewhat organized to balance job, family and housework. Now, when I think about doing household chores I can easily put it off because, as I tell myself, "I have all the time in the world for that."

In my working life one of the things I looked the most forward to was the time off from work that came with holidays. Now, all my time is time off from work.

FRENCH LEGION MEDAL RECIPIENT—On Nov. 17 Wilfred Coolidge (left) of Bethel was presented the French Legion of Honor Medal by Christophe Guilhou (right), Consul General of France, at the Consulate's residence in Cambridge Mass.

The following was read by Mr. Guilhou: "Mr. Wilfred Coolidge, on the 27th of April 1943 you joined the 7th Navy Beach Battalion. You were tasked with securing the beach fronts that would serve as the deployment zone for the Allied forces during the infamous D-Day landings that took place in June on the coast of Normandy. Your jobs included: establishing and maintaining communications in between the ships and the shore, conducting repairs, helping to guide the landing craft to the shore, disposing of obstacles, setting up medical posts and of course helping injured soldiers. On the morning of D-Day, as you were approaching Omaha Beach you were ordered back as the landing zone had become too chaotic and dangerous. Instead you returned the following day along with four other radio men. You would stay in the area for the following three weeks and endure many Nazi counter attacks including deadly gas attacks. Once the beach was deemed clear, you and your men set sail westwards. Some of you went back home to the USA, while others, such as yourself, sailed on to the Pacific Theatre of operations to continue the fight against Japan. For your astounding bravery and courage you were awarded the World War Two Victory Medal and the European-African-Middle Eastern theatre ribbon with one Service Star, the Bronze Star and the Distinguished Unit Badge for the important role you played during the landings in Normandy." The National Order of the Legion of Honor was created by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1802 to acknowledge services rendered to France by persons of great merit. The Order is the highest decoration in France. In attendance were sons Wilfred Thomas and Herbert Alan, Wilfred Thomas's wife Christine, and their three children, Thomas Arthur, Amanda Neva, and Dylan Roscoe, family friends Stan and Ann Leonard, Rick and Cheryl Dynan and their son Tommy. Unable to attend was Herbert's son James Wilfred, who is studying abroad in Egypt.

We started this week with one-half inch to an inch of snow in most places. Warming temperatures have resulted in a few icy spots, which will no doubt have washed away entirely in Wednesday's rain before you read this. Walking in the woods is more interesting with a bit of white stuff on the ground, because all sorts of tracks show up. Mike has seen lots of deer spoor, and we both have noticed plenty of coyote tracks. Yes, they are right here in the "big city."

Thanksgiving Day was crowded, noisy, delicious, and fun. All three Hoech daughters and their respective families were with us, as well as the Stancioffs' Danish exchange student, Rene, and Elisabeth's boyfriend, Kirill. The 21-pound turkey had a slight dent made in it, but we are enjoying turkey sandwiches, turkey pie, and the prospect of turkey soup. Sometimes I think that leftovers are the best part of the big day.

I suspect that the ladies of the West Bethel Union Church have been as busy as Santa's elves this week, preparing for the annual Christmas greens sale on Saturday. Be sure to stop by to find what you need for decorations.

On the same day, the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel will host its annual Christmas Tea and Fair, a good place to do some gift shopping. There will be all sorts of goings-on all day, in and around town, so be aware and be there. The Pleasant Valley Grange has lost two valued long-time members this past week: Helen Saunders, whom I wrote about last week, and Rupert Grover, who passed a few days later. In John Applin's words, both will be sorely missed by one and all. We send our condolences to both families and to their many friends, as well. Yet another loss occurred on Nov. 25, one which touches a number of West Bethel residents. Mabel Kennett, known for her years as a teacher, for her prowess as a quilter, and for the life that she modeled, succumbed to leukemia. She was a friend and mentor to many, including me, and we will have many good memories of her. Our sincere sympathy goes to her husband, Alden, their three children, and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Black Friday and Cyber Monday have passed, and the frantic rush to shop, shop, be none left to buy. Let's see if this good intention doesn't find its way to the road to you-know-where.

The hairy woodpeckers, chickadees, cardinals, and occasional nuthatches visit the feeders from time to time, but not as frequently as we'd like. Let me know what you're seeing in your yards and gardens. Or whatever else you're up to. dhoeh@megalink.net; 824-2917.

By Wally Ritz
This week I have the pleasure to write about some of the joyous Holiday celebrations. So, let's get right to it.

Diane Howe and Michael Blaisdell had the following Thanksgiving dinner guests: Peter and Elsie Seames, Dustin and Marian Howe, Jason Coolidge and Bekah Howe with children Kimball and Quinn, Rob Hayes and Alyssa Howe with children Skylar and Dylan, Andrea Howe with daughter Savannah Merrill, Shanda Morgan with children Hailey and Hunter, and Macy Blaisdell and Heather McAllister with Landon Blaisdell.

At Butch and Ann Crockett's house Jarrod and his wife Paige, Ryan Stowell, Jen and Lee Norris, Grace Gibson, Esther Wilson, Gerard Dupont, Ken and Suzi Whitney enjoyed their Holiday dinner together.

Jarrod will be sworn in for District 91 on Dec. 1. Jarrod — all your family, friends, and the neighborhood are so proud of you. Thank you and also a big head's up to his wonderful wife Paige. It just stands to prove again that behind every great man stands a great woman.

Jean Grover spent Thanksgiving with her son Jim, daughter Dawn, and extended family.

Bettyann and Sonny Hastings had an early Thanksgiving dinner on Sunday with Jay and Crystal Aylward, Meeba, Anna, and little Alison. On Thanksgiving they went to Jack and Julie Warwick's for dinner. Scott and Ellen Franklin with children Kathryn, John, and Summer; Eric and Celeste Hastings with sons Zach and Tom:

Jack's son Scott and wife Angela Warwick with their sons Troy and Aiden all were there to celebrate together.

Arlene Harrington left on Wednesday for her daughter's house in Durham to spend the Holiday with her and family, and came home on Saturday.

At my house we had an early Thanksgiving dinner on Wednesday evening. My daughter Katy, her husband Jim, my grandsons Ben and Boden, my son Ryan, and Eric Berard enjoyed our dinner and time together.

I would love to hear from more folks about how they spent their Holiday. So, please, call me 824-3220 or email me han@megalink.net.

Now I would like to take a moment to thank those neighbors who helped my daughter, son, and the kids after someone had run them off the road Friday evening. I feel so blessed to live in such a nice, caring, and friendly neighborhood!

This week is also the time for the answer to the Trivia. The 1892 East Bethel School Report stated, "Mary Hutchins (now Mrs. Wallace Clark) taught the spring term. She had 21 pupils and was paid $6 per week. Mr. J.S. Hutchins during the fall and winter, had 30 pupils and received $10. Two rows of seats were added to the school room."

I do appreciate all the participation and especially the extra research it inspires. One just has to love history. Have a great week.

We got just enough snow and rain to make traveling a little treacherous. There were a few accidents last week. Two of them were on the North Road and one was just below town in the construction area. Last Saturday, the construction crew was working and installing a guard rail.

My brother, Steve McLain, has been seeing some of the winter birds at their feeder this past week. He mentioned that the Chickadees fly around him when he goes outside. They do not seem to be afraid of anyone.

Steve and Lise McLain were guests at Brad McLain and Carole Mason's for Thanksgiving Dinner. They also attended the Rotary Club breakfast this past weekend. They enjoyed the company of Brad McLain, Carole Mason and Ryan Seames while they were there.

Lise went to visit her father, Gerard Dupont, this past weekend and had to impart some bad news to him. His sister-in-law from Quebec City passed away a few days ago. She was 91 years old. Condolences go out to the family.

Hugh and I went out for Thanksgiving Dinner this year. We met Tim and Michele, along with Sidney and Ajay, at the Town and Country in Shelburne, N.H. Michele's parents, Leo and Ann Croteau, joined us. We had a great time.

Hugh and I went to the craft

DROP-OFF LOCATION FOR CHRISTMAS FOR FAMILIES—Anyone wishing to help the Christmas for Families effort in the Bethel area may drop off money donations or gifts such as hats, mittens, books, toys, games, warm clothing, blanket or gift cards at Maine Street Realty and Rentals on Railroad Street in Bethel, or mail to Christmas for Families, 157 Barker Rd., Bethel 04217. Director Nina Wheeler is shown here outside the business' building at the corner of Railroad and Mechanic streets. She may be reached at 836-3600 or 824-2114. She hopes to complete fundraising by Dec. 10. A Benefit Bingo for the project will take place Friday, Dec. 3, at 6 p.m. at Jackson-Silver Post 68 in Locke Mills. Doors open at 4 p.m.

fair at the Wilkin's House in Waterford last Saturday. We saw Perry and Happy Chapman. They are members of the GHS and were here at Friends and Family Day last June. While they were helping the GHS, they were selling tickets for a beautiful quilt to raise money to benefit The City Brook Trail, A Project of the Friends of City Brook, South Waterford, Maine. When we got home, we got a call from Happy. Hugh had won the quilt! I can't wait to bring it home and enjoy it.

Last Sunday, Hugh and I were catching up on some work for the GHS and had just got off the phone with Bob and Judy Bishop. We noticed a car pulling into the driveway. It was Bill and Gale Tout! They were staying at their condo at Sunday River for a couple of weeks during the Thanksgiving holiday. It was great to see them and catch up on their travels up and down the Mississippi and Tennessee rivers in their houseboat. They have seen a lot of birds and other wildlife. They are quite happy with their decision to live on a riverboat.

time Mainers believed would happen to a person who whistled in the kitchen? Upton's annual Christmas party is this Saturday, Dec. 4 at 6 p.m. in the school house. Local children will be putting on a Christmas play and some will play musical instruments. Everyone will be singing! There will be goodies to eat and bingo to play. Santa just confirmed that he'll be there as well and he's bringing gifts galore! Hope you don't miss it!

The Swingin' Bears Square Dance Club (of which we're members) entered a float in the Christmas parade in South Paris. Wheh! It was a long walk. We won third prize and have heard from folks out of town that we "made the news on television" as we danced down the street - but nobody in Upton saw it because the electricity was off for hours Saturday night due to someone hitting a pole in the 13-mile woods.

A partridge flew through one of the windows of the doors in the school building. The grange hall has had broken windows by the same method. There must be something wrong with these Upton birds, eh?

If you whistled in the kitchen "back in the day" it would sour the milk, keep the bread from rising and "work" the freshest cider. The tea kettle whistle was the only one allowed in kitchens.

Have a wonderful week. Seserts, singing and good company. Last year everybody had a good time and let's do it again!

During the holiday season Gardner Roberts Memorial Library will be open on Dec. 8, 15, and 22. The Book Bakery will be open with holiday treats and the Bees have some new gifts to sell. The library will be closed Dec. 23 until after the New Year Holiday and will reopen Jan. 5, 2011, depending upon Mother Nature.

Thanksgiving was peaceful this year with family gatherings around. Bill and Gail Worcester entertained Darren, Fran, Wyatt and David Worcester with a great feast. Donna and Clem Worcester had Lisa Thebarger and Peter Peare for Thursday dinner. Weekend guests were Brian, Sara, Kaylynn, Shawnee and Makala Worcester. One old fellow said he was going to pass up the traditional meal for oyster stew. Mmmm, sounds good.

Several days of ice, sleet, snow, and howling winds made the holiday travel difficult. You know it must be slippery when the sand truck has to back up the hill. There were reports of several cars going off the road.

Newry

By Seneca Corriveau

The end of the year is nearly here. If you think I'm rushing things a bit stop and realize that Halloween really was more than a month ago, not just the other day. With a glutinous, friend and family-filled Thanksgiving newly passed behind us, I, for one, reach for Christmas with eagerness and excitement. After all, I did vow to never grow up! This is surely my favorite time of year. Decorations, lights and gift giving are mere reflections of the love and hope that are shared so freely.

In fact, I am so fired up over the holidays this year that I actually went shopping on "Black Friday," you know the dreaded day after Thanksgiving that should be called "Broke Friday." Instead I am usually at the Bethel Wares Fare, peddling an array of my newest endeavors. However, my sister and I took a year off to become consumers ourselves.

Due to the nasty ice and snow that fell during the night, we opted to leave after lunch. Together with our mother, we enjoyed a great girls night out shopping. Shelves were empty by the time we reached them, and most of the people we met looked like walking zombies -- the lure of the "deal" captivates the masses. I think next year I will skip this over-hyped shopping frenzy; once was enough for me.

The flurry of activity hasn't ended though. This will continue until the last, with traffic being the largest obstacle.

Please pay close attention while driving. I have talked with many people and had firsthand experiences with the craziness on the roads this time of year. As Christmas draws near, I think people tend to lose focus of its intended meaning, focusing instead on the rush to do and to buy. People, slow down, pay attention to the here and now.

Kindness, generosity and compassion are truly the best gifts to give!

Hello Andover friends. This weekend is the annual RAA-PA presentation of "A Musical Christmas Card" held at the Mountain Valley High School auditorium. Show times are Saturday evening at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. Adults are $10 and kids 12 and under are $5.

Also on Saturday is the Christmas Craft Fair at the First Congregational Church here in Andover. It is from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. There will be a luncheon throughout the day, cookies, fudge, homemade Christmas ornaments, vendors and a holiday basket raffle.

Next Saturday, Dec. 11, is the Craft Fair at the Andover fire station, from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Santa will be making a special appearance at 1 o'clock.

Last weekend my husband Doug, our daughter Kelsey, friend Scott Farrington and his son Josh, and friends Harold Verrill and his son Cody ventured to Scott's family camp near Caribou Lake for a few days of hunting. Night one -- the generator blew; day two they went back to camp because Doug didn't feel well. Soon they were on their way out to the meet the ambulance; he was having a heart attack. From the hospital in Greenville he was helicoptered to CMMC in Lewiston. Needless to say, a week later he is doing well. Thank goodness!

Once again the town common is decorated nicely with lights and a tree.

Sent in by Elaine Morton: Cheryl and I were in Scarborough last week, and as I came out of Marden's someone said, "Elaine Morton!" I'm thinking now what did I drop with my name on it. I turned around -- the person in the next vehicle said, "It's you!" It was Ellen Greeke, a neighbor who lived on the Cross Road in Andover. We had a nice chat. This is for Ellen Greeke.

It's hard to believe that this week is December-Happy shopping everyone!

I'm happy to report that 10-year-old Boston Ludden shot his deer last Friday. He was hunting with his dad, Matt, in the national forest near a place that used to be called Mud City. The deer was a seven-point buck that weighed in at about 187 pounds. The only fly in the ointment was that Matt's pickup slid off the road and was totaled shortly after they left the national forest boundary. Luckily, neither was hurt, and Grandpa Craig Ryerson picked them up and took them to the tagging station in his pickup.

Not so happily, we learned that my older brother Rupert passed away Thanksgiving Day after a long-running, debilitating illness. He was 90 years old, and his body just wore out, I think. Being one of eleven brothers and sisters, he left a very large extended family and a huge number of friends throughout Oxford County and beyond. Minister John Williams conducted a very nice and well-attended funeral service at the West Bethel Union Church on Sunday. Five-year-old great-granddaughter Sophie Hanscom wowed everyone with a solo rendition of the song, "Fly Like a Snowflake," dedicated to Grandpa Rupert. Eldest son, Rupert Jr. and grandson/daughter David Hanscom and Becky Cole made moving presentations representing the sentiments of the rest of us family members. A committal service at the Flat Road cemetery and large get-together at the Bethel Inn followed the funeral service. Everyone hated to have Rupert leave us, but I think we all agreed that his passing was a blessing at this time due to his failing health. We miss him terribly.

On a lighter note, Dan Whitman has been helping me build a large shed to house our camper trailer. As we put the finishing touches on the purloins (wood strapping to support the steel roofing panels I plan to install), I decided to squeeze between the strapping boards (about 9 inches apart) in order to descend the ladder inside the shed which leaned against the base of the roof trusses. When I got my lower body through the strapping, my belt got hung up, and I found I couldn't go either up or down! Surprisingly, my chest and abdomen are thicker than my butt! But did Dan help? No! He just shouted for Mona to get the camera. Some friend! Lucky for me, I was able to unbuckle my belt and struggle back up onto the roof. I still bought Dan's pizza at Pat's on Friday night.

(Note: below is a poem about the passing of Rupert Grover)
Saying Goodbye
By Richard Grover
It's always hard to say goodbye to a friend or loved one
But this time, it's plain Rupert's time had come.
He was a man of action, with always a task that must be done.

A tree to cut, a row to hoe, a trout to catch, a deer to chase or a touch o' rum
A drummer to bag, a beaver to trap, a tree to tap, a mackin to fix, a hide to paste
A saw to file, a field to mow, a friend to rib, a shoe to toss or some other fun.
Like cards to play, smelts to catch, berries to pick, no time to waste.

He liked short trout, skipper meat, short legged blonds, a good dog, mossy horned deer and chain saws.

There was always so much fun to have, so little time and so many laws.

Like the laws of aging and wearing out

That finally caught him, without a doubt.

He got trapped in a body that could no longer do anything

Like an eagle unable to fly with a busted wing.

It hurt to see him trapped like that

I'm glad he's released, and that's a fact.

Christmas is here next door. Decorations are all across the front of the house with some along the back garden fence. The tree on the front lawn is loaded with lighted large candy canes and colored balls. All is multi-colored and flashing.

Thanksgiving news:

Ruth Hazelton was at her son's home in Lisbon to eat with him and his wife and granddaughter.

Maxine Cram enjoyed her special dinner with her son, Arnold, and his wife, Sandy, and their family.

Rebecca Chase entertained her parents, Wendy and Randy Chase, and her grandmother, Dede Chase, at her new home.

Beverly and Vince Stevens had as guests Stacy and Darcy on Thanksgiving day. On Friday they entertained John and Linda Stevens of Rangeley, Dave and Cindy Stevens of New Gloucester, Ben Stevens of Lewiston, and Tina and Joshua Goodwin and sons

David and Donavon of new Gloucester.

Sunday, Bruce Thayer of Norway visited with Vince and Beverly Stevens.

Beryl Bonney was at the Merrill Farm in Waterford to be with the family for the day.

At the West Paris Universalist Church the Rev. Richard Beal will conduct the service at 9 a.m. All are welcome.

Son-in-law Mike Seaton came for me on Wednesday to spend the night in Augusta to celebrate Thanksgiving on Thursday. Daughter Peggy prepared the bountiful meal including right-from-the-oven wheat rolls -- her specialty. Rob Collins brought a tender turkey which he had smoked. It was a small, quiet group with no children. There was just Peg's dog, Mazie, and Jude's dog, Matzie, for excitement. The dogs had a nice long walk which helped settle the adults' dinners. Peg and Mike and Mazie returned me home at about five. A nice relaxing sunny but windy day.

On Saturday son Kenneth brought a turkey and other ingredients and he and I prepared another Thanksgiving feast. Caleb Lamb of Syracuse University and friend joined us. Caleb returned to the university on Sunday where he is busy studying and working in communications.

Muffin does not care for people food so would not even try the turkey. She did get a bit extra cat food though.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Saturday, Nov. 20, for a regular meeting and Thanksgiving program. Anna Swan was made an honorary member.

Some reports on repairs were made. Discussion was held on putting in a bathroom downstairs. Anyone wishing to help with this project, either to help build it or money toward it, would be much welcome. A potluck dinner was held following the meeting. Next meeting is Dec. 4 for a Christmas program and potluck dinner.

Charlene Hoyt was guest of honor at a surprise birthday party at her home Saturday, Nov. 20. Around 35 attended. A good time was had by all. Services at the Baptist church are Sunday school.

Mahoosuc Arts Council receives grant

The Mahoosuc Arts Council was awarded a grant for $3,300 from the New England Foundation for the Arts through the New England States Touring Program to present the modern dance troupe Adele Myers and Dancers in January of 2011.

"I am interested in people dancing not dancers moving. I make theatrical narrative non-fiction dance told from a female perspective - usually with a sense of humor. These dances originate from personal experience, I then explore how that experience intersects with popular culture as part of the collective unconscious. These intersections are conveyed through a chunky non-linear collage format combining energetic robust athleticism, everyday gestures and text. I tend toward a social commentary that often asks, why aren't we being more honest about this?" stated Choreographer, Dancer and Artistic Director Adele Meyers.

The Mahoosuc Arts Council, which has been supporting the advancement of the arts and humanities of the adult communities and school systems of the Greater Bethel Area since 1986, will be hosting Adele Myers and Dancers' innovative multi-media work as part of the 2010-2011 Gould Performing Arts Series, Tuesday, Jan. 4 at 7 p.m. at Birmingham Auditorium on the Gould Academy Campus. The troupe will also perform Jan. 5 for the Telstar Regional Middle and High schools and for area schooled and district charter school students.

Founded in 2000, Adele Myers and Dancers is a five-member contemporary dance company combining robust athleticism, theatricality, and social commentary. The mission of Adele Myers and Dancers is to create engaging dances that are accessible to a wide range of audience members.

Myers' choreography has been presented nationally including Jacob's Pillow Inside/

Adele Myers and Dancers has received support from the City of New Haven, the State of Connecticut, the LEF Foundation, NEFA's RDI series, and the Maggie Allessee National Center for Choreography (MANCC).

The grant will go toward covering part of the artist fees to produce the exuberant and exciting performances, which are also supported in part by grants from Gould Academy and SAD 44.

Tickets for the Adele Myers and Dancer are $10 for adults and $6 for children and seniors. If you are a home schooler or parent and would like to be included in the announcements for Mahoosuc Arts Programming, please contact 824-3575, info@mahoosucarts.org or www.mahoosucarts.org.

Community Band events

The Mahoosuc Community Band will have its annual Holiday Concert Sunday, Dec. 12, at 4 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church in Bethel.

The band has added many new selections to the holiday concert, thanks to Jim Mann and the Mt. Mann Jewelers. New songs include "Christmas Day" by Gustav Holst, "Midnight Sleighride" featuring percussion, by Sauter and Finegan, "Cowboy Christmas" arranged by Jeff Simmons and providing a country flavor to traditional songs, "March of the Toys" by Victor Herbert, and a humorous version of "Twas the Night Before Christmas" with narration of the traditional poem arranged by Jack Bullock.

Refreshments following the concert allow time to visit with the musicians. Donations help with music and instrument purchases and ongoing costs to run the volunteer community band.

The band has been bringing music to the greater Bethel area for approximately 17 years. It was formed to share music when the SAD 44 music program was eliminated for a few years, as a cost-saving effort. Since then both the SAD 44 music program and the Mahoosuc Community Band have grown. The community band now includes people from Hanover, Rumford, Dixfield, Waterford, Woodstock, Bethel, Albany, and South Paris. It's a group of people of all ages that just enjoy making music together. Rehearsals are Monday nights from 7 to 8:45 p.m. at the West Parish Congregational Church basement.

Following the December concert, the band takes a break until Jan. 3, 2011. School musicians are encouraged to join the Monday night rehearsals and enhance their Middle School or High School music programs. The band plans a spring concert in May before the summer performances and parades for Molyockett Day, Memorial Day, and Veterans Day.

New members, or old-timers who may need to dust off their instruments, are always welcome. Contact Patricia Boyle-Wight, director, (824-8453 or PBoyleWight@Ants.edu) or Kathleen DeVore, president, (875-2364 or katedev@aol.com) for more information.

Cutting your own Christmas tree can be an enjoyable adventure for the entire family. This year you may want to plan a visit to your National Forest! A Christmas tree permit can be purchased for $5 from the White Mountain National Forest. Offices are located in Campton, Lincoln, Gorham and Conway, N.H. For information about hours of operation and directions to office locations visit www.fs.fed.us/r9/white

Several different types of evergreen grow in the White Mountain National Forest. Many people prefer the balsam fir because of fragrance and needle retention. Others prefer the spruce because of the fullness of the branches and the classic shape. Keep in mind that a wild tree may not have the perfect appearance of a commercial tree. Be prepared to do some real searching. Somewhere out there is your ideal Christmas tree!

A TOP NOTCH FUNDRAISER—This past weekend Morgan McLean, her grandmother (Linda Taylor), and her mom, Alicia, set up at the Craft & Wares Fair at the Bethel Inn Conference Center. Linda made a purse and scarf for Morgan to raffle in Memory of Nancy Young, all the money raised to go toward the CPS 5th Grade Boston Field Trip. Morgan raised $89 on the "Pink" Raffle. The winner of the purse was Gina Lavoie, and the winner of the scarf was Nancy's daughter, Shonna. Morgan also sold dish cloths that were donated to her from her great aunt, who passed away at the end of September, and made $72. This fall Linda held two yard sales and Morgan set up a lemonade stand, where she sold cookies, muffins, coffee, water and cider. She made $70 at the yard sales. She has also donated bottle money that totaled $35.50. Morgan has raised money through most of the other fundraisers through the school as well, but on her own she has donated a total of $291.50 for the CPS trip.

Please remember:

-Trees are for personal use only, not for resale. Each family may cut one tree per permit.

-Use only hand tools to cut Christmas trees. Chainsaws are not permitted.

-Make sure you are on National Forest land. Respect the rights of landowners when crossing private property.

-Do not cut trees in or near campgrounds, picnic areas, Experimental Forests, Wilderness, timber sale areas, or within 100 feet of a state highway. When you purchase the permit ask if there are any known "off limit" areas.

-Do not cut trees larger than 8 inches in diameter at chest height. Pack down limb piles low enough so they are within 2 feet of the ground. Scatter limbs and wood at least 25 feet away from roads, streams, hiking trails, and property boundaries.

-Cut your tree so remaining stumps will be less than 10 inches in height.

-Attach your tree tag after cutting and before transporting your tree.

Be prepared for winter —

dress appropriately in warm clothing, and make your day a safe one!

The Living Nativity Sunday, December 19

A live re-enactment of the nativity using real people and live animals is very inspiring! This event is held outside every year on the Bethel village common. Dress warm and come to the common on Sunday, Dec. 19, at 5:00pm to view this scene performed by local people...and animals. I wonder which new family will play Mary, Joseph, and the baby Jesus this year!

CLAUDIA M. GRAVES

Claudia M. Graves, 70, of Fryeburg, passed away at the Memorial Hospital in North Conway Nov. 24, 2010 peacefully, with her family by her side.

She was born in Lewiston on April 25, 1940, the daughter of Vivian and Erma (Rich) Hatch. She was raised in North Waterford, where she graduated from Gould Academy in 1958, and then moved to East Conway, where she married Richard Graves of East Conway in June of 1958.

She was an avid gardener and deeply enjoyed spending time with her family, baking for the holidays, and in her free time she enjoyed doing many crafts. She was always there to lend a hand, listen, or just give love to whoever needed it. Also, in her final years she loved to volunteer at her church, the New Church of Fryeburg. Her doors were always open to her children's friends. Her fondest memories were spent vacationing at Cape Cod, Mass., with her children.

She is survived by her mother, Erma Hatch of Norway; two sisters, Linda Hatch of Norway and longtime companion Fred Fox and Sandra Bumpis and her husband Richard of South Paris; her children, Sallie Bolduc of East Conway, Laurie Lundblad and her husband Mark of Conway, Vicki Graves and Tom Fadden of East Conway, Julie Fox and her husband Steve of Center Conway, Lisa Butters and her husband Jason of Center Conway, Robin Brett and her husband Chris of Fryeburg, Susan Graves of Fryeburg, and Bill Jackson and his wife Amanda of Baldwin; 18 grandchildren, Samantha, Mark, Tommie, Scott, Ashley, Jessica, Kyle, Shawn, Richard, Joshua, Felicia, Deanna and Rich; and two great-grandchildren, Brooklyn and Alexis.

She was predeceased by her father, Vivian Hatch; and her son, Michael Graves.

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 29, at the New Church of Fryeburg with a remembrance of her life. Donations can be made in lieu of flowers to the New Church of Fryeburg, Fryeburg, ME 04037.

HELVI PIIRAINEN SMITH

Helvi Piirainen Smith, 85, of Norway, died peacefully at the Hawthorne House, Freeport, after a long and progressive illness on Friday, Nov. 26, 2010.

A resident of the Norway-Pars area, she was born in West Paris, Dec. 9, 1924, the daughter of Finnish immigrants, Kalle and Ella (Niskanen) Piirainen. She was educated in Oxford schools.

She was one of three children. Her two twin brothers, Walter and Antti Piirainen, both died tragically at very early ages.

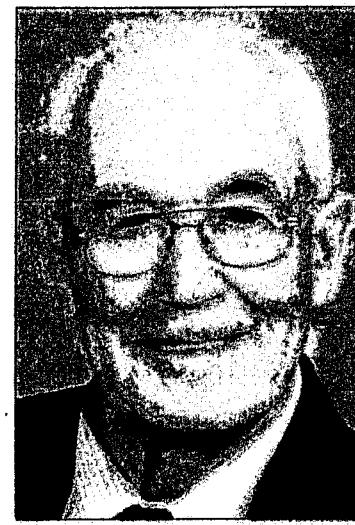

Helvi worked at Wilner Wood Products, Cornwall's and the Norway Shoe Shop, until she retired at the age of 62. She was a long-time member of the Finnish-American Heritage Society in West Paris. After retiring, she spent her time visiting the Market Square Nursing Home, visiting her family and traveling with friends on Maine Line Tours. She twice traveled to Finland to visit relatives and friends, trips that were the highlights of her life.

She was a hard worker, a dedicated friend and a person who loved her family and her heritage. She had a tremendous sense of humor and was loved by all her life touched. She moved from the Oxford Hills area to Brunswick in 2006 to be closer to her only child, her son, Brian. During the past two years, she was a resident at Dionne Commons, which is an assisted living facility in Brunswick.

She was married to Stanley T. Smith, who passed away in 1977. She is survived by her son, Brian and daughter-in-law Tricia Smith of Brunswick; grandson, Mark Brian Smith of West Hollywood, Calif.; granddaughter, Shelly Kavanagh; and her great-grandson, Will Kavanagh of Topsham; two stepchildren, Ivan Smith of Orlando, Fla., and Sandra Jacobsen of Crivitz, Wis.; as well as several step nieces and nephews, step grandchildren and step great-grandchildren.

Tom Myhre presiding. Everyone welcome to attend a reception at the Finnish-American Society in West Paris located at 8 Maple Street, West Paris at the conclusion of the service. In lieu of flowers and if desired, memorial donations in Helvi's name may be made to the Finnish-American Society, P.O. Box 294, West Paris, ME 04289.

STUART W. CROSS

Stuart William Cross passed on to other adventures on Saturday, Nov. 27, 2010. He was the son of Janice Young Cross and the late Stuart A. Cross.

Stuart was born Sept. 9, 1942 and lived on Vernon Street, Bethel, all his life.

He attended school in Bethel, but most of his education came from his family and many friends. If you knew Studie, he probably taught you something and he came away learning something from you as well.

Studie had several occupations: logger, mason tender, landscaper, his own bottle and can collection operation, special project assistant under Town Manager Scott Cole and most importantly he was the self-proclaimed Mayor of Bethel.

For 18 years the family spent winters in Chuluota, Fla., where Studie made more friends. He also noted the "People down south aren't the same as here in Bethel."

In his younger days he spent several winters in Rhode Island with the Knipe family and time with the Standeven family as well. He spoke often of fond memories of those times.

Studie loved animals, fishing and the wilderness country. He watched his soaps faithfully every day and his days started off with his "coffee route." Studie belonged to the Bethel Senior Citizens Club and enjoyed the meals and meeting with friends.

Studie belonged to the Bethel Fire Department for many years and never missed a meeting. He loved spending time with "the guys." He was a permanent fixture in a fire truck every Mollyockett Day. He will be sadly missed by his family and many friends.

Survivors include his mother, brother Jack and wife Sue all of Bethel; nephew, Dan Cross of Seattle, Wash.; niece, Nicole Cross of Lake Worth, Fla.; as well as many aunts, uncles and cousins.

Services will be held at the West Bethel Union Church Saturday, Dec. 11, at 2 p.m. In lieu of flowers, please make donations to the Bethel Fire Department in memory of Studie.

We hope to see you all next year!
